

From Centre to University – A Solemn Journey

Islamic University of Technology, Bangladesh, commonly known as IUT, is a subsidiary organ of the Organisation of the Islamic Cooperation (OIC), representing fifty-seven member states from Asian, African and Arab regions.

It was initially established as the Islamic Centre for Technical, Vocational Training and Research, ICTVTR by a resolution of the Ninth Islamic Conference of Foreign Ministers (ICFM) held in Dakar, Senegal in 1978 on the 30-acre land donated by the Government of the People’s Republic of Bangladesh.

ICTVTR was renamed as the Islamic Institute of Technology (IIT) by the Twenty-second ICFM held in Casablanca, Kingdom of Morocco in 1994. It is mandated to help develop human resources in the Member countries of the OIC in the fields of engineering and technology as well as technical & vocational education.

In a further move, the 28th Session of ICFM, held in Bamako, Republic of Mali, on 27 June 2001, renamed the IIT as IUT. This decision was made in recognition of the Institute’s commendable performance over the years.
